the Custodial review

The Custodial Review is a products and services magazine, including informative editorial which is also published on our website. The magazine was founded in 1994 and has established itself as a source of information and products for the ever-expanding business of custody.

The magazine is designed to be a broad-reaching read on topical issues.

We feature high-level interviews from experts in the industry which will be of interest to professionals in the police, prisons, customs and immigration services.

Circulation
4000 copies of the publication are printed each issue of the magazine, with 5 issues being published annually. With an estimated readership of 12,000.

Readership
All police custody units within the UK,

directors of finance, procurement managers, catering officers, training colleges as well as the Crown and Magistrates Courts, staff at all HM Prisons – including privately-run prisons – plus Immigration Removal Centres in the UK. Other services targeted include prison services, key personnel within the courts, the Home Office, key ministers within the Government and the British Transport Police. The major construction and design companies that work with the prison and custody sector are also included.
